The Story of this Map

At HomeBase we are on a quest to make visible the extraordinary food system in Logan City through a project we have call 'Loganly Grown'. This is our second map that is highlighting the diverse makers, growers, sellers, providers and innovators of food across Logan. It features a world of food within a 2000m² part of Logan Central. It began as a Yammer post that Zane Jackson (from the Advocacy Branch of Logan City Council) sent his colleagues to share his passion for the foods in this part of Logan. One of those colleagues, Justin Thiang knew that we were seeking out examples of food innovators as part of our Loganly Grown project. We read through Zanes fantastic list and his wonderful reviews - and we were inspired! Thanks Zane for sharing your love of the food businesses of Logan and for becoming one of our growing number of 'food detectives' - seeking out the makers, growers, sellers, providers + innovators of great food in Logan! Do you want to join us?
